Table Talk

1. Who am I following? Do a survey of who you listen to on the internet, watch on TV, view on YouTube, listen to on the radio, or read in books to help you determine this. Are they pointing you to Christ?

2. What are my spiritual and character blind spots? It may be helpful to ask those closest to you for their input.

3. What kind of person am I leading those under my influence to imitate? Can I say as Paul did in 1 Corinthians 11:1, "Imitate me as I imitate Christ?"

4. What hypocrisies am I tolerating in my words and actions that I am not resisting or fighting to remove?

5. What are the fruits that others are seeing and tasting in my life? Rotten? Sweet? Fleshly or Spirit Filled? (Galatians 5)

6. What are the values that I am allowing to be put into the treasure box of my heart? (Colossians 3)

7. What are the sand-like (many, small, seemingly solid, seemingly insignificant) beliefs and ideologies of the world that I am subtly building my life on? Where are they coming from? Are they deeply rooted in Christ? Please note Question 4 before answering.
(1 Corinthians 10:5)
